School of Business Management

MBA (Law) Program, Batch – 2022-2024

Information Handout

1. Introduction: NMIMS, since inception, is continuing with its endeavour over the last three decades to remain ahead of time by initiating and updating unique academic curricula in anticipation of expectations from industry. The predominant objective of designing such programs always remained to make students future ready with application-oriented knowledge and skills for successfully handling leadership responsibilities.

As India moves ahead with ambitious economic aspirations coupled with goals for inclusive growth, equity and ESG efficiencies in an interconnected world, lawyers will need to have deeper business insights. Students from legal discipline must understand functional elements of corporate strategies, marketing, finance, operations and human resource management, organizational dynamics, business risks and mandates for compliance. They need to have appropriate soft skills and emotional intelligence for attaining better application orientation with quality, speed, and timeliness of deliverables in due compliance with mandates. All these should be in addition to inputs for higher level corporate and economic laws. Objective of MBA (Law) program is to present such future-ready students to industry.
